

Armstrong Fence Company has recently expanded to better serve the growing needs of greater New England by acquiring South Shore Fence, Inc.

After 25 years as owner, Gordan Baines has decided to retire. "I strongly endorse and highly recommend David Armstrong and his team of professionals," said Gordy. "With their state of the art manufacturing facility, they can custom design almost any fencing need with quick turn around time and cost efficiency. I believe his salesmen and installers will provide my customers with the same superior service and quality they received from South Shore Fence."

Gordy is consulting for David this fall and after a relaxing winter in Florida, will be back in the spring. "We are very excited about this opportunity to grow our business. We look forward to welcoming all the South Shore Fence residential and commercial customers," said Armstrong.
